

FOURTH SECTION
EIGHT PAGES

The Sun.

NEW YORK, SUNDAY, DECEMBER 26, 1915.

Copyright, 1915, by the Sun Printing and Publishing Association.

PICTORIAL
MAGAZINE

THE NEW YEAR'S PROMISE OF PEACE.
An allegorical painting by Fred W. Wright.

In Mr. Wright's allegory the boy's figure represents The Future, pointing from where the battle scarred Past lies bleeding to a warless era. Hope, the standing female figure, is comforting Virtue with the promise while the Light of Civilization breaks through the Clouds of War and streams down upon the Steps of Destiny. Death is digging the grave of the Past and the Dove of Peace hovers overhead with the olive branch in her beak.

By courtesy of M. Knoedler & Co.